

RING SIZE GUIDE

MEASURE YOUR FINGER

For the most accurate result, measure the finger on which you plan to wear the ring. Finger size can vary with temperature and throughout the day, so measure at room temperature, preferably toward the end of the day.

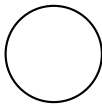

- 1 Wrap a ribbon or narrow strip of paper around the base of your finger. It should feel secure but not tight.
- 2 Mark the point where the ribbon overlaps. If your knuckle is wider, measure it too and consider both measurements.
- 3 Lay the ribbon flat and measure the marked length in millimetres. This is your finger circumference.
- 4 Find the closest circumference in the conversion chart below. If you fall between two sizes, choose the larger size.

OPTIONAL RING CHECK

If you already own a ring that fits the intended finger, print this page on A4 paper at 100% / actual size. Do not select 'Fit to page'. The ruler below must measure exactly 30 mm.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT SIZE

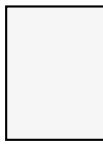

The same finger measurement can feel different depending on the width and construction of the ring. Use the guidance below after identifying your standard European size.

SLIM BAND
Up to 4 mm

MEDIUM BAND
5-10 mm

WIDE BAND
Over 10 mm

SLIM BAND

Order your measured European size.

MEDIUM BAND

Add 1 numerical European size. If that size is not offered, round up to the next available FYR size.

WIDE OR MULTI BAND

Add 2 numerical European sizes.

EXAMPLE

If your measured size is EU 52: choose 52 for a slim band, 53 for a medium band, or 54 for a wide band. When a design is offered only in even sizes, select the next available size above your result.
